WE RECOMMEND

Cushion Track Premier

Polo is a fast-paced sport which can be particularly tough on a horse's joints, and as such the risk of injury is relatively high.

In order to reduce the risk of damage to the soft tissue in a horse's limbs, it's important to invest in a fast surface which can keep up with the pace of the discipline.

As horses within the sport are required to move quickly, coming to a stop and making turns at high speed, the surface used to practice and compete on needs to have enough give to provide the right level of support for the limb and hoof.

The ideal polo surface will be rolled tight, providing the perfect platform for the horse to push off from and gather momentum, whilst also providing support in turns and offering a consistency which enables the ball to travel smoothly.

Our range of surfaces which are well-suited to polo have been developed using state-of-the-art technology and designed to provide high levels of support and energy distribution, thereby optimising performance.
